THE WONDERFUL SALISBURY PICTURES
WILL COME TO THE ALHAMBRA
NEXT TUESDAY.

Owing to the unsettled conditions of transportation, the Alhambra has secured the great African pictures which excel the Paul Raney production and are able to present them in Ogden for their first appearance at the regular price of admission, 5c and 10c. The theatre will open next Tuesday at 10 o'clock in the morning and run continuous all day, as everyone in Ogden will want to see them. The following is a testimonial few pictures receive. This is the first instance where this production has been presented for less than 25 to 75 cents admission.

TIVOLI OPERA HOUSE
San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 27, 1915.Mr. Edw. A. Salisbury, Manager "Salisbury Wild Life Pictures,"
Los Angeles, Calif.,
Dear Mr. Salisbury:

Your "Salisbury Wild Life Pictures," which closed at our Tivoli Theatre in San Francisco last night, met with a wonderful reception, far beyond our expectation, and at the end of the original booking, which was for one week, the demand from the public was so insistent for the pictures to be shown longer, that we booked them again, thereby establishing a precedent.

The business for the second booking exceeded that of the first. When we say that we consider these pictures the most wonderful before the public today, we speak sincerely, and we cannot recommend them too highly to prospective exhibitors.

Yours very truly,
TURNER AND DAHNKEN CIRCUIT,

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Charles A. Mason, of the team of Mason and Mason, favorite German comedians in the heyday of character farce comedy, is still alive. In fact, he is very much alive and still desires to "measure them r-r-round and r-r-round," which quotation spoken and repeated last night, in a sketch he presented at the Orpheum theatre brought him back to local memory most substantially. In the sketch referred to Mason was a big favorite in Ogden and the laughter he evoked last night indicated that he is as good as ever. The sketch in which he is featured is called "Who is Who," and the plot is written around twin brothers, acted by one star and Mark Sullivan. It is a merry mix-up, but could be improved by shortening.

Five other pleasing acts are to the Pantages program that opened yesterday at the Orpheum yesterday for the week's engagement. Of these, greatest favor is won by Lillian Segar, a young lady who plays the cornet and sings—alternately—and is well favored with talent to do both successfully. Her numbers are well chosen and she was required to respond to numerous encores yesterday.

Pantages noted sextette, the La Scala, is also with us again, singing classic compositions in the original tongue. With due credit to them for the reception they were given, they would do well to present an entirely new program and part of it, at least, in English. The soprano, Lillian Bianca, is the star of this organization and her singing, alone and in the ensemble was thoroughly appreciated.

Harry Breen says his mission in life is to make people laugh. The mission is well performed though the well-known vaudeville comedian gets on "thin ice" occasionally in its performance. His monologue is all foolishness but, being cleverly constructed, keeps the audience in a hilarious mood.

A high class equilibrium act is presented by the Five Florimonds, three men and two comely maidens, as the curtain raiser. They perform on unsupported ladders and seemingly defy the law of gravity. Their act is the largest and best of its kind that has been seen in vaudeville in this part of the country.

DOGS OF NORTH OGDEN MUZZLED OR KILLED

North Ogden, Sept. 1.—The excitement caused last Monday by the appearance of a rabid dog in the community, and the damage done among domestic animals on the premises of Cyrus Bailey, William Roylance, Clarence M. Barker, Lorenzo Ward, has by no means subsided. The rabid dog was lassoed, killed and buried and was afterwards exhumed and the head taken to Salt Lake City, where it was pronounced badly affected. In pursuance of orders from the state health department a canvass of the town is being made and animals known to have been bitten by the rabid dog has been ordered killed and cremated and all other dogs are ordered muzzled, which is being generally responded to and a number of dogs already have been killed.

Miss Nelly Barker, a highly accomplished young lady of this place, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barker, was married yesterday in the Salt Lake temple to Robert Gardner of Logan. They proceeded by evening train to Berkeley, California, where he takes post graduate work, they both being graduates from the Agricultural college at Logan.

Another recent marriage of a young lady to be noted with special interest by many friends throughout this and other regions, where she has become famous for her intellectual acquirements exercised in religious, social and educational way is that of Miss Nettie Brown, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of this place at American Falls, Idaho, to Mr. George Hanson, August 12. They will make their future home at Chrystal, Idaho.

The funeral services of Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels held yesterday in the North Ogden chapel was well attended by many of her friends, which with the elaborate floral contribution and the kind remarks of eulogy from the speaker addressing the meeting, fully attested the high esteem in which she was held by those who knew her best.

Lyman Barker is nursing a very bad case of lameness, sustained some time ago in contact with a horse and he will be deprived of the use of his leg for some time.

Mrs. James Ward is enjoying an extended visit with relatives and friends at various eastern points, including her native town of Cohocton in Steuben County, New York.

Elder Edmund Berrett is expected home from the British mission in a day or two, returning on account of a breakdown in health.

MOTHERCRAFT AT STATE COLLEGE

Mothercraft is the name given to a new group of courses to be offered for the first time by the School of Economics of the Utah Agricultural college, this fall. These courses are characterized by President E. G. Peterson, as follows: "Mothercraft means the science and art of child rearing and family management. It is the most important consideration of our civilization. When the majority of our girls are trained in these subjects the most important step will have been taken for the perpetuation of our standard of living, our health, our morals, and our religious ideals. This course has never before been given in an American public supported college of standing and constitutes a very important change in educational methods. The plan is frankly to place a large emphasis in the School of Home Economics upon the training for Motherhood. Actual practice in child feeding, child clothing and child training along the most approved lines. It is planned to have the girls receive training by actual practice, in story telling for children, and other phases of child education, acquainting the students at the same time with all the recent important developments in our knowledge of books for children, the Montessori method of child education, play for children, modern sanitation as it applies to child welfare, the simpler ailments of children and care of the same.

It is not presumed to have this training replace the natural home training of the girls. The mothers will always be the most important teachers of their daughters and nothing will ever be able to supply the lack of normal, clean and well conducted family life in the education of any person. One of the important considerations is to prepare the future mothers for full ability to assume their great responsibility in raising their own children. Mothercraft will therefore be designed to strengthen the influence of the home. It is planned to have all this important work conducted in a building or home devoted to the work exclusively. Here the girls in groups of from ten to 20 studying home economics will live for a period of weeks under the direction of the specialist, a woman of practical as well as scientific and theoretical experience in child rearing and home management. The girls will pay a regular fee for room and board, sufficient, it is thought, to pay the expense of the practice house. The different rooms, it is planned ultimately, will represent different styles of decoration, painting, woods, finishing and furnishing. The practice house will be a model for the Utah home-makers as regards sewage disposal, water supplies, kitchen equipment and arrangement, and elegant but inexpensive furnishing and finishing throughout.

Frequent meetings of the women of the state will be held in the home, which will thus serve as a model for those who are already absorbed in the practical family life. The practical house will be used for laboratory and demonstration purposes on the occasion of the housekeepers' conference.

The girl will alternate in assuming complete practical control in turn, of the menu, the laundry, the kitchen, the expense budget, the serving, the entertaining, the outside decoration and interior finishing, child feeding, the evening hour for children, child play, dressing of children, and nursery practice in general. All this, of course, will be supervised by competent specialists and by professional attention. Practice will thus be given each girl under absolutely ideal, but entirely practical conditions in the average home in all the tremendously important details of the home.

This work will ultimately grow to large proportions. It requires no great foresight to predict that thousands of students will soon be annually trained in these most important subjects. Just as fast as possible the agricultural college will enlarge the work to meet the demand for it.

DOGS TO MATCH

When the fashionable woman changes her frock she also changes her dog. At least this seems to be the training for Motherhood. Actual practice in child feeding, child clothing and child training along the most approved lines. It is planned to have the girls receive training by actual practice, in story telling for children, and other phases of child education, acquainting the students at the same time with all the recent important developments in our knowledge of books for children, the Montessori method of child education, play for children, modern sanitation as it applies to child welfare, the simpler ailments of children and care of the same.

One fashion leader appears with an advanced autumn street frock of wool velours, that looks charming against the golden brown hue of this lovely woman's hair. Her hat is of brown trimmed with golden flowers and, of course, the spaniel she carries now on her arm and now tucked under her arm is of the same tone of golden brown.

But do not imagine that this golden brown beauty is the constant companion of this lady's promenades. Had she chosen to wear a dark brown velvet walking frock she would have taken a brow chow and had she gone forth in black and white striped sport apparel she would have selected a particularly nobby little fox terrier whose black and white patches accentuated the striking points of her own costume.

For occasions when the fashionable dog lover wears soft white frocks she must have a small white fuzzy lap dog, which, however, would never do for occasions when she chooses to wear white sport clothes on stiffer lines. For then the little helpless lapdog would not be at all appropriate, and though she want a dog as white as her own attire she must have one of bricker appearance and would probably choose a West Highland terrier or a white English bulldog.

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to A. R. C. Intyre Drug Co. or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.—Advertisement.
